Blaise Pascal

Book: Pensées

"The two contrary reasons. One must begin there; without that, one understands nothing, and everything is heretical. And even at the end of each truth, it is necessary to add that one remembers the opposite truth."

Painting by Mark Spain

Translated from French

Illustration by Laurent Guidali

Www.Etoile.App